Sir Sam Hughes Resigns on Invitation of Sir Robert Borden

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—At 10:30 tonight a brief statement was given out from the office of the prime minister officially confirming the report that Sir Sam Hughes had ceased to be minister of militia. The statement was as follows:

"It is announced that the prime minister had request ed and has received the resignation of the minister of militia and defence. The retirement of Sir Sam Hughes is in part the outcome of the establishment of the ministry of overseas forces, and in part is due to the assumption by Sir Sam of powers which, in the judgment of the prime minis-ter, can be exercised only by the government as a whole. It is anticipated that the correspondence which brought about the request of the minister's resignation will be made public immediately. It must first be submitted to the governor-general.

(Crowded out last week)

evening in Girling's Parlors.
Mrs. Gainer briefly prefaced her remarks, by stating that the recent Franchise Act placed the women of Albertain a new and responsible position and that the demand for instruction and education on Pro-vincial and Dominion laws is com-ing from all women's organizations also from women who have not i-dentified themselves with any of these organizations.

standing of the present laws.

Mrs. Gainer spoke of the Defective, Delinquent and Dependent Children's Act, and hoped that a separate institution would soon be provided for each class of children.

The present Homestead Act was highly commended, also the effort of the present Government in trying to obtain control of our Natural Resources.

The ladies were urged to try for the Dower Act, the present legisla-tion being very inadequate and stated that we might hope for some-thing more definite on this question

The reason for this erroneous idea is, no doubt, due to the fact that in this country the great bulk of the travel is first-class, while in the Old Country and on the Continent, the recognized mode of transportation is third class. Second class transportation in this country not only exceeds that of a like class in European countries, but will compare very favorably with their best. Finishing Lambs for the

On the Dominion Experimental Farms some interesting results have been obtained from a number of ex-periments in lamb feeding conduct-ed during the last few years.

ed during the last few years.

The large percentage of Canadian lambs are marketed in the fall discet from the pastures. All the lambs from the farmer's flock are usually lifted at the same time, which means that the well finished lambs of good weight must help to sell the light, thin lambs, which may be as well bred but, being late lambs or twin lambs, have not done as well as their flock mates. Well finished lambs of uniform weight invariably command a higher price Innshed lambs of uniform weight invariably command a higher price than mixed lambs varying in size, weight and finish hence it is always more profitable to hold the lighter lambs and sell only those of uniform weight and finish. Again, the sel-ling of the most of our Canadian weight and finish. Again, the sel-ling of the most of our Canada-lambs during the fall months prac-ticularly always causes a shun price. Lambs not required for in-mediate consumption are held in a cold storage to the profit of the wholesaler in view of the usual re-crease in price of from $1 to $3 per hundred lbs. between the most of for November and April.

of November and April.

When the farmer appreciates these two conditions the lamb trade will be revolutionized and the farmer will faish his work and reap full profits for food-stuffs consumed by and labor expended on his sheep. Many farmers with abundance of roughage can well afford to finish from one to three carloads of Jambs during the winter months, thereby making top market prices on the farm produce and a good margin of profit in addition. Realizing the existence of seach conditions all over profit in addition. Realizing the existence of such conditions all over the Dominion, a large amount of investigational work along these lines has been conducted on the Dominion Experimental Farms throughout Canada. Details of this work may be seen in the annual reports; however, a brief summary of the work to date may be timely.

PROFITS IN WINTER FEEDING LAMBS

In the six years' work conducted on the Experimental Farms system, the profits on the winter finishing of lambs have ranged from 25e per head to $2.10 per head over the cost of feed. In other words, the Experimental Farms and Stations have purchased unfinished lambs on the open market or from drovers and, charging good prices for mark-cluble farm feeds and cost prices for other roughages, have made from 3 to 33 per cent on the investment in the lambs, labour not included Even allowing a fair margin for labour, this is as profitable a line of feeding work as can be carried on and shows a return on investment greater than is usual in the fluishing of sterrs or shoats.

The class of lamb to buy depends In the six years' work conducted

The class of lamb to buy dependence on the lambs available and The class of lamb to buy depends largely on the lambs available and market requirements. Usually, the well-bred lamb showing plenty of constitution and thrift and weighing from 60 to eighty pounds is the best stocker lamb to put into winter quarters. Lambs weighing from 80 to 100 pounds, if thin, may be profitably put in the feed to for a short finish and if good fall pastures are available this may be as profitable a line of work as any. The linished, heavy lamb weighing from 80 to 110 pounds should, never be princhesed for feeding purposes. mer.

COST OF EQUIPMENT

The cost of equipment for the finishing of lambs is very light. Warm quarters are not necessary for sheep of any class. Sheltered sleeping quarters free from drugstis and having a dry floor, are usually all that is required. A good tight, single-board shed with doors opening to the south, or, for the particle provinces, a straw shelter or even the protection of the bash or the straw stacks, would, under average conditions, be ample for this purpose. Cheap, convenient racks and trough will cost little per carboad of lambs fed and, if made portable, may be used for both summer and winter feeding. No other class of stack requires so little in cost of equipment, in buildings, utensells, preparation of feeds, or in any cher way as do sheep. In these days when labour, is extremely sean, e. (this phase of animal husbandry si ould appeal strongly to the farmer who has not sufficient labour to go into dairy husbandry, swine or even i bed' eathe.

SHERLOCK-MANNING

Sherlock-Manning Organs are Sherlock-Manning Organs are vastly different from the harsh toned, cheaply constructed organs which make their appeal only where cheapness of pre is placed above real built in tone quality and all round merit.

The Sherlock-Manning is the ONLY Canadian organ equipped with the Player Piano folding pedals and castors.

The bellows of the Sherlock-Manning Organs are built up out of three ply cross banded veneered stock. This method adds very much to the cost of building the organ, but insures pernanent satisfaction to the buyer, as no warping, twisting or splitting will result.

The Sherlock-Manning Piano is built in the same high class manner as their Organs, and are sold on an absolute guarantee. Call and hear these at
